REO A SPEED WAGON FOR EVERY HAULING NEED

Put Your Hauling or Delivering on Tomorrow's Basis
With these New Speed Wagon Features—

Speed Wagons—always leaders—again revolutionize hauling by furnishing faster, surer, easier and more economical transportation for 93 per cent of all trucking uses.

Thirteen Speed Wagon wheelbases—capacities from 1/2 ton to 3 tons—with a comprehensive variety of standard body types—mean that today you can find the right size, capacity and style to suit your requirements.

Six cylinder power, faster acceleration and 4-wheel internal expanding hydraulic brakes give Speed Wagons the Greater Mileage Output that widens your hauling or delivery areas—makes possible more trips in shorter time—and cuts down the number of truck units you must use.

Sturdiness and simplicity in every part—exceptional ruggedness in axles and frame—lengthen Speed Wagon life and enable Speed Wagons to run at a profit long after ordinary trucks are discarded.

Your drivers will tell you—after trying out the new Speed Wagons—that Speed Wagons are easier to turn and to shift, easier to ride in with their well ventilated, comfortable, clear vision cabs.

Decorated Rooms, near C.P.R. station, main street, Vulcan. Rates 50c., 75c., $1.

Mrs. T. W. Hansen, of St. Louis, Mo., is visiting for a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. House. She visited here fourteen years ago, and can see some change in Vulcan.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Gourley and family motored up from Willisca, Iowa, and have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Phillips for a few days. Mr. Gourley is an uncle of Mrs. Phillips and Mr. Tom Bolt.

Mr. T. B. Sims, who is on the staff at the Jenkins' grocery, since coming to Vulcan has negotiated the sale of his big stone residence in High River. It was purchased by the Presbyterian congregation and will be converted into a church.

Vulcan town thus far would seem to be a charmed centre so far as hail is concerned. Commencing on Saturday last, the territory has been visited by several angry storms, but immediately there has been no hail damage. However, there has been destruction to a degree in territory which can be classed as in the Vulcan district. The nearest approach of the damage to town is perhaps ten to fourteen miles. The claims for damages, as is usual, run from one hundred per cent down to a small fraction. It is estimated that the hail loss now in the entire Vulcan district is much less than at this time last year, and the prospect of a bumper crop has not been diminished materially.

Two hundred or more people participated in a real barn dance, held on Wednesday night, at the premises of Mr. Pete Bowie near Reid Hill. The event was put on by the Women's Institute, and the exceptional success brings them the praise of their patrons, and their reward is a profit of one hundred dollars. The dance was a most joyous affair, with everybody in the spirit of fun. Refreshments were served, and ice cream and pop were available. It was just about the greatest night of pleasure for some time. Music was furnished gratis by Bill Mack, Bob Munson, Morris Flynn, Bill Robson, Earl Eastwood, Ronney Howe, Art Engen and Andy Erickson. The one hundred dollars profits of the dance will be contributed by the ladies to the community hall building fund. Work on the construction of the hall is proceeding splendidly.

Mr. Lars M. Almstrom, of Paris, France, was introduced last week at The Advocate office by Mr. Roy Walker, and with them was Mr. D. L. Mills. Mr. Almstrom is the assistant to the general manager of the DeLaval corporation of Europe, and he is making a tour of the States and Canada to observe methods and conditions in these countries, and there is significance in the fact that Vulcan was visited. Mr. Almstrom was delighted and surprised with the extent of business and expanse of territory, and the grain fields around Vulcan were to him more than marvelous. Speaking of France and his business, he commented on the fact that the battle fields are now the pasture places of contented herds of cattle and the territory affords immense business in the sale of the dairy implements which have made the name Laval famous the world over.

Some examination reports have been received by Vulcan school pupils, but not sufficient details for the publication of a general report. Perhaps next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kramer and children have gone back to the States, after a month spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bolt. Mrs. Kramer is a sister of Mrs. Bolt.

Mrs. T. B. Sims, who has not been very long a citizen in Vulcan, is now a patient in the municipal hospital in High River. Her condition is serious. The Sims family came here from High River and well know the advantages of the municipal hospital.

New telephone directories have been delivered to subscribers in Vulcan this week. With each succeeding issue the book is getting bigger and bigger, and Vulcan is keeping pace with the increase to maintain its place as one of the largest exchanges on the system.

Members of the Vulcan cadet corps will go into camp on Tuesday next. The tents will be pitched in a beauty spot on the riverside just west of High River. Twenty-five lads will pack their kits and go in grand anticipation of a couple of weeks outing. The company will be under the command of Major Harry Dorrington, who had the corps up to a high degree of efficiency in drill at the time of inspection, and when the boys have had a period of instruction each day for a dozen days they will surely be in shape.

Mr. J. W. Bolt and three boys, of Hill City, Idaho; and Mrs. J. W. Burns, of Fairfield, Idaho, left for home after two weeks spent with their father, Mr. T. A. Bolt, Sr., and brother, Mr. Tom Bolt, and sister, Mrs. J. S. Phillips. A re-union was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, and this was the first time in twenty years that all of the family have been together. Those present: Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Gourley and family, of Willisca, Iowa; Mr. J. W. Bolt and three sons, of Hill City, Idaho; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kramer and family, and Mrs. J. W. Burns, of Fairfield, Idaho; Mr. and Mrs. Dean Campbell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Campbell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bolt and family, Mr. T. A. Bolt, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dean, of Vulcan. A picnic dinner was served outdoors, after which a great many pictures were taken.

This is truly a building year in Vulcan, and the elevator companies with houses on the row of nine are certainly making their contribution to this enterprise. It can now be authoritatively stated that an annex of some twenty-five thousand bushels capacity is at once to be erected at the Pioneer elevator, giving the house a total capacity of about ninety thousand bushels. The report that an annex is to be built to the Parish & Heimbecker has the appearance of being correct by the delivery of material on the property, and when this is completed the P. & H. house will have a total capacity of one hundred thousand bushels. The new U. G. G. elevator, with all latest equipment, is almost ready to go into operation, and will have more extended mention in the next issue of this journal. Nine elevators make quite a community, and the almost constant activity for improvement on the row creates occasion for the record of elevator news every week.

The futility of trying to beat a train to the crossing is often demonstrated by a fatality.

The basement and foundation are in for the new residence, being erected in the vicinity of the school for Mr. E. L. Parson.

The improvements this week by the town public works department include the construction of a board walk along a block on Venus street.

The collection taken at the Sunday community service in the Chautauqua tent, amounted to $37, and this was sent as a donation to the Wood's Orphanage at Calgary.

The installation of another tank and another pump is being made at the Stuckey service station. This will give this station an excellent equipment. Mr. Bill Brown is putting in a new tank at his service garage.

Just when the dust thickened on the streets and there were suggestions of the necessity of a watering cart system, along came a rain which will for a time make the folks forget the dust nuisance.

Mr. Martin Wolfe, who has for two or more seasons operated the municipal road-grading outfit on local roadways, and with real success, has quit the job to accept the management of the Western Canada grain elevator at Stavelay.

The community service in the Chautauqua tent on Sunday night was an unusual event and was largely attended. The program of song, music and addresses was excellent, and in a union of denominations they gave to a worthy cause.

The band practised the first time on Tuesday night since winning the competition at Calgary. This assembly was in preparation for an engagement at Lomond on this Friday, and they will also play for the 'Elks on "Kiddies' day", August 8th.

Regular services at Church of Christ on Sunday, August 5th. Bible school at 10 a.m. At 11 a.m., J. W. Jenkins, of Aldersyde, will be present, and also at 8 in the evening. Mr. Jenkins is supplying while the regular minister is in a meeting at Kircaldy. The public is invited.—O. P. Burris, minister.

Calgary papers have recorded the death of William H. Adair, which took place on Thursday of last week in the Belcher Hospital at Calgary. Deceased was a veteran of the great war. The service was conducted by Captain Muncester, and interment took place in the field of honor at the Union cemetery. The late Mr. Adair was well-known to many in Vulcan and was for a period on the staff of the Vets' Club. He is survived by a widow and two children.

New buildings in the country adjacent is keeping pace in this line with Vulcan. The house recently destroyed by fire on the farm premises of Mr. Charley Smith is being replaced by a larger and better building. The house on the farm recently purchased by Mr. Al. Hagga is being much enlarged and otherwise improved.

August 18, is the tentative date for the next boxing show to be staged in Vulcan. The card will be promoted by the Canadian Legion committee. Terms have been practically settled with Cowie and Rathwell as principals in the feature bout, and these boys will make one of the best attractions ever offered in Vulcan. Preliminaries of real class are being negotiated and it is expected that the entire program will be definitely announced next week.

The construction work at the new municipal hospital building has this week been officially inspected by Architect Blackie, and he was highly pleased with the progress and quality of the work. The site is visited every day by ratepayers of the district and others who are interested in various ways in the institution. The very nature of the institution will maintain an interest in the same, for seldom is the town and district without use for a hospital and the splendid service it will render.

"Western Canada's fastest ball team" is the designation given to the Blackie nine in the report of their success as winners last week of the big tournament at Camrose, played later at Drumheller. Vulcan has had a keen neighborly interest all season in the Blackie Club, and fans here will read with satisfaction the record of the team on the trip up north. The Blackie team scored 43 runs to 1 scored against them in the Camrose tournament against packed teams, and with the 32 at Drumheller makes 75 to 11 for five games. There was an audience of six Vulcan fans to witness these performances. Dr. Burke going up at the last minute to join the five mentioned last week. This baseball recalls the days when Vulcan figured as the big team in the province, and the ardent fan betrays a regret at the slump which has overtaken the town in this particular line, and in generally in sport that is sport.

The call has been issued for a meeting of all subscribers to the Memorial Hall building fund, the same to be held on Friday, August 10th, at eight in the evening.

The erection of a large new house by Mr. J. S. Jamieson, on his farm which adjoins the town, can fairly be classed as a Vulcan improvement and included in the local building boom.

The contract has been let for the painting and decorating of the exterior of the Odd Fellows' hall. The work is to be started this week. The hall occupies a site of prominence and this improvement will be conspicuous.

Messrs. Rannels and Little have been made Vulcan dealers for the Dodge cars. These men have long been known locally by their connection with the Black and White service station.

"Kiddies' Day", an event keenly anticipated by the boys and girls of the district, will be here next Wednesday, August 8th. The Elks will be hosts to the young folks on that day, and surely there is a big time coming up.

By advertisement in this issue the people of Vulcan and district are invited to enjoy the sport and thrills of the Elks' carnival and stampee at High River. All the usual gay and joyous features, and more.

What can I do to help improve the town, help it grow and make it a better place to live in? Each local citizen should ask himself the question. Population does not make a great community. It's the spirit of those who live in it.

Two or more men have recently made speculative investigations of Vulcan as the location for the building and operation of an hotel. No definite information has been available, except that owners of desirable sites have been approached.

"Eighty thousand cars ready to move big crops," is the heading of a news article in one of the dailies, will not be without interest to the people of the district which surrounds a town where there is a row of nine elevators, and where the grain shipments last year amounted to a total of two million bushels, and that town is Vulcan.

The extra gang of 20 C.P.R. trackmen, on Tuesday completed the new siding to the new coal chute, and this facility will likely go into operation shortly. The men will now be employed in the construction of another siding at the east end of the railway yards, this being intended to eliminate the difficulty in handling of freight, caused by the congestion which occurs when the row of nine elevators are in operation. These changes and enlargement of railway facilities at this point will be appreciated by grain men and all who handle freight, and will be a profit to the transportation company.

The transformation has been completed and the building which has heretofore served several purposes, is now the business offices of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal. There is little of the original visible, and the expenditure of considerable money and the labor of the various the entire block, all of the interior fixtures and equipment are new, and these include a vault and safe, that have been specially constructed. The office is complete and commodious, and now ranks with the best in town. This enterprise of the bank is a fine contribution also to community improvement, which has this year reached a degree in advance of any in the history of the town.

Some time ago these columns carried the information that oil drilling claims had been filed on several thousand acres of land in the Vulcan district. The nearest point to this town in the area covered is perhaps a few miles east and south, in the vicinity of the local coal mines. Mr. Elbert Granth, local well driller, has been engaged to put down a number of holes at points in the leased territory, presumably for discovery purposes, and there are other machines at work at different points of the area. There is considerable secrecy as to the operations of big concerns, such as the one here active, and at present there is but the speculative opinions of the public that make the discussion of the subject. Who knows but that Vulcan might at no distant date be no distance from an oil field. One idea expressed is that it might be coal that is being sought, this in view of the great success in recent experiments with coal. Another suggestion is that perhaps it is gas that is wanted, this to supply the requirements of the towns on this line.

A contribution to community appearance improvement is being made by Mr. Roy Greene of the painting and decorating of his residence.

K. R. McLean, sight-specialist, 212 Herald Bldg., Calgary, desires to announce that he will make his monthly visit to Vulcan, at King's Drug Store, Saturday, August 4th.

Vulcan was largely represented at the Nanton exhibition on Wednesday, and a number from here took in the Brewery trophy ball games at Claresholm, between Claresholm and Blackie.

The school holidays are now just half over. When the pupils have passed the excitement of examination reports, it will seem no time until they will be required to return to studies.

Rev. Wood, superintendent of the well-known orphanage in Calgary which bears his name, will address the morning and evening congregations at the United Church on Sunday next. He will speak at Mayview at 2, and at Red Cross at 2:30.

Mr. James Ross, of the Imperial hotel, left last week for Vancouver, there to join Mrs. Ross, who went a week or two previously, and spend a vacation on the coast. He will convey greetings from Vulcan to former residents now located near the Pacific.

Some of the material is on the site of the new elevator that will be erected for the Wheat Pool at Vulcan. This is the second house of same ownership at this point, and, like oil wells, will likely be distinguished by No. 1 and No. 2. Work of construction will proceed at once.

The Advocate desires to acknowledge appreciation of the compliment paid by one of the Chautauqua speakers to this community journal, when he made special mention of its excellence as a weekly and gave credit for the contributions made to the enterprises and success of the town and district.

The Vulcan Co-Op, are now the owners of the residence on Minerva street formerly owned by Mr. H. Johnston, and since purchase have had the same painted and otherwise improved. The Co-Op, have several properties in town for rental purposes. This firm is erecting additional stock-storing buildings on their lumber yard premises.

Chautauqua for this season has run the course at Vulcan. The attendance has been exceptional, and there has been a general and generous commendation of the programs presented. Everything has gone smoothly with the entire course, the business of the central office has been appreciated, and Miss Scott, representative of that department, departs with all accounts squared and an established friendship with the public. The local committee has performed their duties splendidly. Satisfaction has been such that a contract has been executed for next year.

The contract for the building of the new Memorial Hall, to be erected for the Canadian Legion, has been awarded to Messrs. Carlson & Richards, a Calgary firm of building contractors. Mr. Richards was superintendent of construction on the building awarded to W. E. Butchart. The style of building was indicated by an illustration published some weeks ago in The Advocate, and its substantial beauty will make it remembered by most of our readers, all of whom will be interested to a degree in the enterprise. The work will be proceeded with at once, and reference is made elsewhere to the preparation. Vulcan is for a certainty going to have a real club and community house.

Wrecking squads and moving crews have been busy for days at work preparatory to the erection of the new memorial hall by the Canadian Legion. Buildings are being razed and taken away; sheds, ice-houses and shacks, which have not been famed for their attractiveness, will go to other locations and by the hand of man will be made into garages and other places of usefulness and improved appearance. The present main quarters of the Club will be moved, at least temporarily, across the lane. It is quite remarkable how one move necessitates another, and craftsmen employed have produced a place of business conspicuous by its excellence. Besides the alterations to in this case it has so developed that there will be such a general change that the improvement can hardly be realized as yet. The alterations will cause the disappearance of some buildings that are perhaps as old as the town and in their place will rise up a building of substantial beauty and community accommodation. The enterprise of the Legion is receiving splendid support.

VULCAN ADVOCATE
VULCAN, ALBERTAARE WE WORSE OR BETTER?

Recently a pastor began his sermon with a statement which sounds quite familiar. He said: "There is lawlessness everywhere. Children no longer obey their parents. It is evident that the end of things is at hand." Then the preacher told his congregation that the words were not original with him, nor even an utterance of the present day, but that they had been translated from an inscription found among ruins in ancient Assyria, dating centuries before the time of the patriarch Abraham. Throughout all recorded history are evidences that such pessimism has existed from time to time as to the future of the race. Now and then an era of comparative peace and quiet has been experienced, only to be followed by recurring outbreaks of violence and lawlessness. While present day conditions are bad enough, it seems that on the whole they are better than those of the past. There is more thought given to the relief of suffering, to the betterment of industrial conditions, to the protection of the helpless and to other humanitarian enterprises than ever before. Although the World War gave civilization a severe test, recovery has been rapid and the ground lost is being speedily regained. It must be remembered that war has marked the history of every generation of mankind, and the same is true of lawlessness, oppression and every other manifestation of human imperfection. It is reasonable to believe that these will always exist in greater or less degree, so long as good and evil struggle for mastery in the minds and hearts of men.

THIS WONDERFUL AGE

It seems only a short time ago when the first electric spark sped through the air across the Atlantic and wireless seemed a possibility, says The St. Mary's Journal. So rapid has been the march of events since then that ships were equipped with it and help could be sent to men in trouble they sent their cries for help out of the fog or from the vast silence of the sea. But there were limits to distance and science had to march on, ere yet the air was conquered. But now it has become a thing of commercial routine. You may send a message from here to Australia, to the other side of the world, for as low as ten and a half cents a word. And the weird thing about it all is the habit of mind everybody has fallen into, and this marvellous thing is taken all as a matter of course.

BUILDING A TOWN

This can only be done by every business man showing how. They must be loyal to each other if they are to inspire loyalty in the community. There must be co-operation, and a willingness to do business with each other as far as possible, for the public is quick to notice and it is surprising that little acts which a tradesman imagines may not be noticed are observed and chalked up for reference. Possibly a newspaper office has more contacts with the general public than any other business institution, and it naturally gains a considerable amount of information which never appears in print, in fact it would be in some case quite startling were it to publish it.

A French Writer accuses the Americans of being "drunk with wealth." Seemingly in these days of Volsteadism they must get drunk on something.

Going over Niagara Falls has the advantage of not keeping everybody in suspense a week or two wondering if the adventurer will make it.

WHEN MARRIAGE CAUSES HATRED

If you are shut up with the same person long enough, in relative isolation from others, you come finally either to love or to hate him. Indifference is practically out of the question. That is the reason why only love sanctifies marriage. It is the reason why Explorer MacMillan enjoys silence on his companions. If they let each other alone, they can endure each other through the long isolation. If they try to be intimate, it is almost certain that they will bore and then hate each other. Few of us have to face the ordeal of Arctic silence, but most of us are, or will be, married. Moral: First, love your wife. Second, have each of you enough outside interests to escape the calamity of boring each other into loathing.

JOINT BAND CONCERTS

There is much to commend in the action of the town bands of Columbus and West Point, in Mississippi, where the two organizations have combined their forces for a series of open air concerts alternating between the two places.

Many towns have small bands which are creditable enough according to their numbers, but which have not sufficient players to render a concert program very acceptable. By combining occasionally with similar bands in neighboring towns some very attractive concerts would be possible.

All that would be necessary to accomplish this would be a little co-operation between the respective leaders in obtaining the same music and holding joint rehearsals as opportunity permitted, the leaders taking turns in directing the combined band.

Besides the better musical effects obtainable, such a plan would make for neighborliness and good will between the communities concerned.

GROTESQUE FIGURES

In speaking of the disbandment of the baseball team and the causes thereof, a business man remarked he could see it coming. He blamed lax management and failure to interest the young men of town and country in the game. He attended all the games himself, and enjoyed them. Citizens of his age were well represented while very few of the boys of twenty years were in evidence. The latter could be seen in pool halls, restaurants, stores and dance halls, jiggling around as if they were affected with St. Vitus dance, keeping time to a crazy jazz orchestra piece from a victrola.

These young men are no longer attracted by manly outdoor sports, it doesn't appeal to them. They prefer to make grotesque fools of themselves, be it in the home, the store, or on the sidewalk. Well may we enquire, what is the future of some of our young men?—High River Times.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

(By Edson R. Waite, Shawnee.) That the world's greatest selling power is advertising?

That the printed page is the master creation of amazing simplicity through which it can be done?

That newspapers cater to the needs of all the people? That the business men who make a practise of studying the advertising and editorial pages of the newspapers keep up to date and are better fortified to engage in the battle for business?

That advertising is the spirit of progress for the business world? That steadily it gives a complete victory over obstacles because it is dependable when properly used?

That constantly, year after year, it makes its appeal to the world on behalf of worthy business?

No power or influence can hinder or retard the growth of a business that is being built through steady, truthful advertising.

"DOWN WHERE THE VEST BEGINS"

Down where the belt clasps a little stronger,
Down where the pants should be a little longer,
That's where the Vest begins.
Down where you wish you were a little sligher,
Where each day the buttons grow a little tighter,
That's where the Vest begins.

Down where the pains are in the making,
And each heavy meal will start it aching,
That's where the Vest begins.

Where each added pound is the cause of sighing,
When you know in your heart that the scales aren't lying,
And you just have to guess when your shoes need tying,
That's where the Vest begins.

TOURISTS IN CANADA

In a recent speech in Vancouver, Hon. William Phillips United States minister to Canada, made the rather surprising statement that American tourists spent about $260,000,000 in the Dominion last year. He predicted that this amount may be doubled in the next ten years and lauded the scenic beauties and other attractions of Canada, which he termed "a giant Switzerland," with an all the year appeal for those who seek the joys of outdoor life. There is no doubt that thousands of Americans who now spend much time in Europe would devote more attention to Canada if its attractions were better known throughout the States. And an increased intermingling of the two populations would tend to still more strongly cement the traditional friendship between them.

THE CREDULOUS

This, from The Montreal Star, has been made locally timely by recent events.

Credulous people will find, in the announcement that a Marseilles woman escaped the trap set by Jerome Pratt, the new French Bluebeard, solely because she went to a fortune teller, "who read threatening tragedy in coffee grounds," an argument in support of their belief in charlatans. Yet it must be obvious to the hard headed individual that is nothing more than a fortunate coincidence. Unfortunately, such coincidences lend to the easily impressed something of support in their self-deceptions. Yet the charlatan constitutes an evil the extent and significance of which are only just being realized. The recent denunciations of quacks, fortune teller and alleged "healers" in Canada are only an echo of similar exposures and condemnations elsewhere.

The charlatan will be difficult to uproot. From the earliest written records of history such people have existed, as soothsayers, as witches, as horoscope readers and what not. They have always enjoyed a very numerous and amazingly credulous following, and it seems as though the progress made by science against ignorance has failed to weaken the strength of their disciples, faith to any appreciable degree, even in the present day.

Aloysius Horn of "Ivory Coast" fame, is having a second book published. This time it is a romance entitled "Harold the Webbed" and it is described in the introduction by William McFee as the bed-time story of an aged adventurer who preserved the fabulous imagination of a child. Like "The Ivory Coast in the Earlier" the book has been edited by Mrs. Lewis, who, as before, records the conversations that ensued on the completion of each chapter.

A HAPPY SCHOOL

Darby M. Callaway, affectionately known as "Boss," taught school in Selma, Ala., 43 years, from 1868 to 1911, since which time he has been county superintendent. He is now 81 years old and a recent reunion of his former pupils he was presented with a handsome loving cup.

He is known far and wide because his school gained a reputation for being a happy school, where mutual affection existed between teacher and pupils and where harsh measures were never employed in governing the children under his care. In accepting the cup Mr. Callaway made a speech in which he said in part:

"I tried to make my students happy. While in school I hated every teacher I ever had and I hate all of them still, for none of them was ever kind to me or to anybody else. And I determined that if I ever grew to manhood I would have a school where everybody in it would be happy. I knew that if I won the love of my pupils they would be happy and in all probability they would be interested in their studies. It was impossible for me to think of keeping my boys and girls miserable for four years, during a period which should be for them the brightest and most joyous part of their lives."

Mr. Callaway's pupils did take an interest in their studies and many of them have won high distinction in various walks of life. Quite possibly his philosophy is right and perhaps others might with equal success adopt his attitude, so tersely expressed in his own words: "I tried to make my students happy."

MARRIED 61 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Palmer of High River, east side, celebrated their 61st anniversary, last week, and had as their guests three daughters, three grand children and one son-in-law, all from Spokane, Wash., who motored over for the occasion. Their names are: Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and daughter, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Camp and son, Verne, and Mrs. Bailey and daughter, Gladys.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

It would be going too far to say that a business which advertises in the newspaper is bound to succeed, and is safeguarded against failure, but figures do show that the business which does not use newspaper advertising is more likely to be a failure than a success. The newspapers have an appeal to the great masses of the people which cannot be equalled by any other advertising medium, for they are read and studied in the home, and the advertising columns are as eagerly scanned as are those devoted to news. The people have been educated by long years of experience to look for the announcements of wide-awake merchants and manufacturing concerns in their newspaper and they readily come to the conclusion that if a product or a firm is not worth advertising, it can hardly be worthy of patronage.—Grand Forks Gazette.

ROAD HOG CAUGHT

Convicted before Magistrate Knowles, at Okotoks on July 19, of operating his taxi recklessly having regard to the condition of the roads and the circumstances of the case Harry Hayden, of the A. B. Taxi, Calgary, was fined $15 and costs. On a second charge of not returning to the scene of the accident Hayden was fined an additional $15 and costs. Evidence was given by Alvin Burkholder, the accused, while driving on the Calgary-Okotoks highway, near Aldersyde, hit the car of complainant, forcing his car into the ditch and then drove on without returning to the scene as required by the act. Jumping into another car, which drove up, Burkholder pursued the taxi and secured the number. He then laid the complaint to Magistrate Knowles who in fining the accused declared that the second charge was much worse than the first, as he did not know that someone might be seriously injured.

PAINTING UP

And today, there is competition between places. Towns are vying with one another in an effort to make themselves attractive to the eye. In the old days it did not matter much, from a local business standpoint, whether a town looked well or not, for not only was there little civic pride in this respect, but the strangers who visited a place were few in number. The order of things has completely changed in this respect. There are a hundred or more visitors to every town nowadays for every one that the place had in the days before the motor car, and it is the consciousness of this fact, very largely, that induces the average citizen to grow flowers, to encourage civic improvement and to have his premises painted.

The "save the surface" campaign, of course, stressed the value of paint from a protection standpoint and no doubt this effort left its mark, but the feeling we expressed to our friend was that the chief reason why paint sales were increasing was an esthetic one and that this was based on a growing appreciation of the delight that is found in beauty and the dollar and cents value of beauty as a help to making sales.—The Maritime Merchant.

Reminders that it is time to order Christmas cards is the first "shop early" warning.

WHERE ARE WE AT?

Perhaps it's all right and we are steadily climbing toward the sun-kissed pinnacle of human perfection. Perhaps ancient and holy things seemed so only because ancient vision was narrow and primal instinct hobbled reason. Perhaps we have climbed above the mark of ignorance and we are able to measure acts and impulses by truer standards. And yet, now what do we make out of this Last Monday's press dispatches tell us that a bunch of festive gents ventured revival of the ancient and loyal sport of cock-fighting. This occurred in Merry England, where in the good old days "His Majesty and "all ye court forbye" found harmless pleasure in watching game chickens jab each other in the jugular with steel tipped spurs. A squad of police raided the joint, carried off the chickens and the sports were fined two quid each. Another news item tells us that a Michigan man spanked his wife for disobedience as his forefathers had done before him from the beginning of time to the dawn of this new era of finer sense of proportion, and the village cadi penalized him five dollars and costs of the court. Maybe that was as it should be, and so was the fate of the chicken-fighters. But here's where we lose our bearings: in the very select circles of London society—a lady is reported as having given a midnight bath party to which the guests were invited and came each in a one-piece bathing suit and with a bottle of gin. And the party was not only given police protection, but the press recorded the prominent guests and descriptions of their antics.

Civilization may be still soaring to purer heights, but at times it looks more like a tail spin.—A. J. S.

NEWS OF INTEREST

Exhibits of agricultural products and natural resources from Alberta will again be shown this season at a number of the larger fairs throughout the central states by the publicity branch of the Department of Agriculture. Reports from Canadian Government agents indicate that a great deal of interest in Alberta has been shown by farmers throughout the territory visited in this way last year and the favorable impression to the province has been materially assisted by the favorable impression created by these exhibits.

The appointment of Alex. Ross, former Minister of Public Works in the Alberta Government, to the position of chairman of the Workmen's compensation board succeeding J. T. Stirling who recently resigned on account of ill health has been announced by Premier Brownlee. It is felt that Mr. Ross' administrative experience and familiarity with workmen's compensation legislation will particularly qualify him for the duties of his new position which he will assume on Monday next.

The Rev. W. Edgar Goodman was inducted into the parishes of Blackie and Dinton on Monday, July 23rd, by the Bishop of Calgary, assisted by the Rev. G. A. C. Biddle of High River, Rural Dean. There were also present Rev. D. F. Kemp of Vulcan, who acted as chaplain, and Mr. C. W. Wiley, Lay Reader. The choir of St. Benedict, High River, under their organist Major Scott, very kindly came over to help in the service and their coming was much appreciated by the congregation. The Rev. G. A. C. Biddle gave a short address on "Service."

NEW CALENDAR

How long is a month? A month may be 30 days or 28 days. It may also be 31 days, and occasionally 29 days. The average person cannot tell how long any particular month may be without either reciting, "Thirty days hath September, April, June and November," or counting on his knuckles.

The reason August has thirty-one days is that when Augustus became Emperor of Rome he wanted a month that would bear his name and otherwise flatter his vanity. July, named for Julius Caesar, had thirty-one days. Therefore Augustus would be satisfied with nothing less. So he twisted the calendar around and it has remained that way since.

A calendar system which may have caused no particular confusion in Augustus' time is not necessarily good through for today. It is true that certain changes were made in the sixteenth and eighteenth century but these did not materially alter the situation so far as the length of the month was concerned. The same inequalities remained.

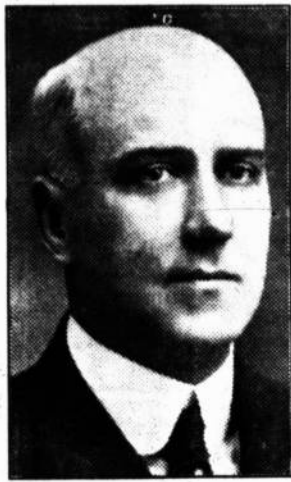

In this statistical age the month and the quarter-year are the most important units of measurement and comparison that we have. Industrial production, and, business, and financial activities are all measured by these units. Much inaccuracy results from the fact that no two successive months, except July and August, and no two successive quarter years are of the same length. Further inaccuracies are caused by the fact that some months contain more Sundays and holidays, and consequently less working days, than others.

A new effort at calendar revision is now being made in the hope of bringing a system into use which would eliminate many of the needless variations between days and the dates which are found in the present method. After a three-year study of 185 schemes for simplification of the calendar, the committee of inquiry of the League of Nations has approved one devised by a British mathematician residing in Canada, Moses B. Cotsworth.

The Cotsworth calendar, now known as the International Fixed Calendar, divides the year into thirteen equal months of 28 days each. The first of the month would always fall on a Sunday, and the same calendar would apply to every month year after year. To provide for the 365th day left over, the Cotsworth calendar would make "Year Day" a holiday, falling between December 28 and January 1. During leap year, "Leap Day" would be inserted as a holiday after June 28.

WINTER WHEAT

The first report of winter wheat harvesting this season comes from Chin, near Lethbridge, where on Friday, July 27, five binders started cutting on the farm of John Ross. The crop promises a heavy yield of although reports indicate that the dry weather during the month of May in some southern sections will be reflected in a slightly decreased yield of winter wheat as compared with last year's crop. Spring wheat cutting is expected to start in about three weeks, as early fields are beginning to color. The prospect for a highly satisfactory yield of this crop is very promising.

HON. JAMES MALCOLM

EXPORT TRADE

Another Striking Advertisement by the Trade and Commerce Department, Ottawa

The various striking advertisements of the Trade and Commerce Department at Ottawa which have appeared in Canadian newspapers from time to time are calculated to create an "export trade consciousness" throughout the Dominion.

It was decided last year by the Hon. James Malcolm, Minister of the Department in question, that Canadians should become more intimately acquainted with business opportunities outside their own country. In order to accomplish this, the campaign of publicity was embarked upon.

Canada's external trade has grown in such proportions as probably few Canadians realize. For instance, in the fiscal year, ended March 31st, the Dominion's total exports were valued at more than a billion and a quarter dollars, or to be exact $1,250,456,297. This represents an export trade of more than $130 for every man, woman and child in Canada. At the beginning of the present century Canada's export trade amounted to less than 200 million dollars.

Another method of gauging Canada's export trade is found in the fact that last year the country's exports of manufactured products alone amounted to about the same as her total production of manufactured products in 1900. In other words, Canada is exporting as much in manufactured articles today as the total output of every factory in the Dominion twenty eight years ago. These few figures may give readers some comprehension of the immense increase in export business.

Most public men and business men, no matter what their politics may be agree that export trade is possibly the most valuable asset the Dominion can have. Canada's natural resources are so varied and so rich that it would be impossible for Canadians to consume them. Take wheat for example, it is manifestly impossible for 9,000,000 people to consume 400,000,000 bushels of wheat annually. Canada's future prosperity therefore is bound up in seeking markets abroad for her surplus production.

When Canadian business men seek to sell their products in other lands, they cannot hope to control prices. They have to meet competition from thousands of other business men and producers living in other countries. They are faced with fierce world competition in maintaining their hold on export business. To maintain this trade of a billion and a quarter dollars a year and to increase it, Canadians must become acquainted with every legitimate method known to business. They must learn how to pack their goods in the manner desired by the foreign buyer, they must learn how to keep contract dates, how to ship these goods by the most economical and direct routes. And perhaps most important of all Canadian goods must always be kept up to the standard of the sample submitted.

The Department of Trade and Commerce, at Ottawa, is doing everything in its power to further this export trade. Years ago a Commercial Intelligence Service was established, and trained trade commissioners sent to the world's trade centres. In fact, Canada had the first trade commissioners abroad, thus inaugurating a system which has been widely copied. Today this country has 24 trained trade commissioners in strategic business centres. More men are now in training to go to other places. The government has by subsidy, and other means obtained first class shipping facilities to these business centres. The trade commissioners are constantly on the alert, seeking out opportunities for the selling of Canadian products. Whenever they learn that there is a chance of a Canadian order being placed, they immediately communicate with the Commercial Intelligence Service at Ottawa, giving all information they possibly can. This information in the possession of the service at Ottawa is at the disposal of any Canadian producer or manufacturer. This system, the result of some years experience, is thoroughly organized and working smoothly. Today the Canadian manufacturer or producer can find out with little trou-

So encouraging have results been from the export system adopted by Canada, and so well have Canadian goods been received abroad, that it is fairly prophesied that in a decade Canada's exports will mount to double the present figure. Hon. Mr. Malcolm as the responsible head of his department believes in keeping Canadians fully informed as to opportunities abroad. To do this he is reaching the people through newspapers, magazines, and trade journals.

DANGER NEAR

The American Thresherman recently related some stories of "accidents" that need not have happened if the persons injured had not been fool-hardy. Sometimes it is as important to warn young machinists and others working around machinery of the "danger lurking near" as it is to instruct them regarding the operation of a separator or an engine. Two of the stories are both interesting and seasonal. If heeded some readers may avoid being maimed for life.

"While I was threshing some time ago I became the partner of a young man who had gained considerable machine experience, but who was careless. He would reach through between belts while the machine was in motion, even when it was not necessary. I warned him repeatedly, but he paid little attention to me. One day while we were threshing, the box on the belt side of the fan jarred loose. I was pitching at the time. Hearing the noise I looked up.

My partner was walking towards the loose box with a wrench in his hand. I turned my back to the machine as I knew that something would happen. I had no more than turned around when I heard the wrench go into the fan. I looked up to see my partner standing there holding his hand, with a look of great pain in his face. Fortunately there were no bones broken, but he was laid up for some time with a badly bruised and sprained hand. He learned his lesson at a cheap price, as he might have lost an arm.

It is much better to shut down for a few minutes than to take such risks.

There was a certain young man in the community who seemed to take a particular delight in pulling off the drive belt before the outfit had stopped running. He would invariably leave the particular job he was doing while the "cleaning up" was in progress and make his way back to be ready to "pull the belt." He had been warned repeatedly to leave it alone but paid no heed to the warnings.

One day as usual he took up his position by the side of the engine and with one eye on the engineer to catch the closing throttle, he grabbed the belt just as the engineer reached out to shut off the steam. The engine or decided instead of closing the throttle, to give the threshers an extra spurt in order to clean it out thoroughly.

Just as the young man grabbed the belt the speed picked up quickly, with the result that his arm was pulled in between the belt and engine flywheel. He lay for weeks in a local hospital from which he was discharged, a cripple for life but a wiser young man.

SHIPMENTS OF LIVE STOCK

During the past year increasingly large shipments of livestock have been going from the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation District, and these will be further increased during the next few years from present indications. One farmer, after shipping a quantity of hogs this spring, has about 130 young pigs still on hand and others in the district going in extensively for pig raising, which shows that the farmers are very much in earnest in their efforts at mixed farming. Also quite a number of sheep are being raised in the district, a somewhat newer venture.

GREAT BALL GAMES

The dance given in behalf of the Blackie baseball club on Friday evening was a very successful event, and enjoyable as well. The dance over, Messrs. J. Schmidt, J. M. Arnold, Dr. Burke and Ed. Wellman left by motor for Camrose, where the Blackie team was to play the following day. They all drove a portion of the way and finally arrived at Camrose on Saturday morning, at 11 a. m., rested a while and in the afternoon attended the game which Blackie team won in a distinctive way over their northern competitors. Returning on Saturday they called at Drumheller and saw Blackie play a double-header at the coal city, where the Blackie team again gave evidence of their ball playing capabilities.

A tourist returning home last week declared he was disillusioned on his visit to Chicago, for he heard no machine guns and saw no gun fights. Following a tour that took him to Lethbridge from Peace River, Hon. Vernon W. Smith, Minister of Railways and Telephones said that Alberta faced prospects of the largest grain crops in its history.

Canadians acquitted themselves in a notable way in the first day's competition of the 1928 Olympic track and field events held at Amsterdam. The Blairmore Enterprise says that blue grouse are greatly on the increase in that district and wherever one cruises in the bush or the hills, large flocks of young are to be seen.

The safest places these days are at home or at church. You seldom hear of fatalities there.

Over 100 British boys of 17 and 25 years of age are on the way to Canada to take up farm work. They will be under competent supervision.

Heaney who challenged Tunney and was knocked out in the 11th bout made $100,000, while Tunney made over a half a million dollars.

A band of gypsies visited Bassano recently and a commercial traveller who had his fortune told, discovered later that he lost a portion of his fortune. The slick gypsy extracted $40 from his roll which she had to return.

Harvesting operations are speeding up in Southern Alberta as evidenced recently by an accelerated demand for combines. It is figured by local dealers that at least 500 of these will be in use in the grain fields south of Alberta this year, as against 150 last year and 35 the year before. Harvesting will begin earlier than usual this year.

The ranch of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales has been electrified. Two large electric plants, of the type used by thousands of Canadian farmers, were installed recently on the E.P. ranch, buildings which form a small city on the farmstead. Two electric residence water systems were also installed to supply drinking water, so that kerosene lamps and water from a pump are as rare at the ranch house as they are in the Prince's home in London.

The fate of the Amundsen party who went in search of the crew of dirigible Italia remains a mystery. The famous explorer left Norway on June 18 in a French seaplane, which was equipped with wireless, but so far no word has been received, meanwhile General Nobile and seven of the airships crew have been rescued and the search continues. The attempt of the Italia to cross the Arctic was a foolish undertaking and General Nobile has been subjected to much harsh criticism for the flight.

An animated discussion was carried on in the Blackie Co-operative on the subject of power vs. horse farming on Tuesday. The tractor was admittedly a great institution on the farm, so long as oats were dear and gasoline cheap, and more work was performed in a given time, but the opinion prevailed that the tractor had a tendency to spoil young boys on the farm, who once they formed the habit refused to work thereafter with horses. Meanwhile the Blackie tractor men are selling all kinds of tractors, and there you are.

The students and former students of E. B. Lyle, teacher at Arrowwood school, were entertained at a picnic held on the Bow river last week. It was the fourth one of its kind, a picnic being given at the end of each school term. About sixty were present and various games and amusements were enjoyed. Mr. Lyle was presented with a gift by his scholars in appreciation of all he has done to make their school days pleasant. In the afternoon a paper chase was held. All present then went exploring the most important discoveries being a snake and a cutbank.

According to the Hon. T. C. Crerar, President of the United Grain Growers' Limited, just back from a business trip in Great Britain and the Continent, the outlook for the marketing of Canada's crops in Europe are excellent for the next few years. Favorable factors include a general improvement in business and living conditions with a consequent enlarging demand and apparent inability of Russia to raise enough grain for any but local consumption. Mr. Crerar believes there will be a large and growing demand for Canadian barley in Europe, for feed and malting purposes.

Jacob Betchel of near Blackie is recovering from an operation for appendicitis. Number of his neighbors motored from Arrowwood on Sunday to visit him at High River.

With a possible increase of 25 per cent. in the enrolment at the Arrowwood consolidated school, there will be in all probability a new room opened next term. Many families in the outlying districts are contemplating moving to Arrowwood this fall to take advantage of the opportunities offered here.

Arrangements have been completed for a new hospital to be built in Arrowwood. The basement has been excavated and forms will soon be laid for the cement foundation and basement. The building is to be financed by private shareholders in and about Arrowwood. C. McVine is president of the organization, with L. F. Christenson secretary.

The first series of the Wheat Pool closed on August 1st. The result of new sign-ups in some districts were splendid while in adjoining district there seemed to be a spirit of indifference among the farmers. It is surprising to us to learn that there should be such a difference in the minds of the farmers about a matter that is of the same importance to all. In many cases farmers were found holding back giving the excuse that their neighbors had not signed.

Blackie people were saddened recently to learn of the shocking death of a young man named F. M. Ross, formerly known as "Red" Ross who was foreman of the road crew engaged in the construction of the bridge over the Arrowwood between T. N. McLennan and Malmberg's. He left this position and was evident riding "blind baggage" on the C. P. R. and a collision occurred on the train and poor Ross was killed, and papers on his person led to his identity. A wire to Blackie gave the information of the tragedy, but no information was gained as to where he came from. He was a returned soldier and was a fine specimen of physical manhood. He was an efficient workman and his untimely death is regretted by all who knew him.

Among the exhibits which attracted a great many visitors at the Edmonton Exhibition were those depicting the services of the Provincial Department of Health. The child welfare clinic proved to be as popular as ever and many children were examined by the nurses in charge. The attendant physicians were Drs. Folinshee, Leech, Swallow, Adamson, Holmes and Folinshee-Nowell, all of whom gave their services free of charge. One of the outstanding features of the exhibit was the display of work by the patients of the Provincial Mental Hospital at Ponoka, and the Provincial Training School at Red Deer. This display, the best of its kind ever shown by these institutions, elicited very generous praise from those who viewed it. Practically all the articles shown were sold and orders which were taken for work will require many months to fill. The emergency hospital again proved one of the busy spots of the fair grounds and many patients with minor injuries were attended to by Miss Grant, P.H.N. and her staff of nurses.
